Family is definitely the essence of human life. No matter what achievements or failures every person has had in his life, the influence of the family in the first place is strong in this case. Today, family issues are in the center of everyone's attention in our country. That is why the government of Uzbekistan considers family and family issues to be the most important task at the level of state policy. Of course, this is also stated in the Constitution of the Republic of Uzbekistan, which is our main law. Chapter XIV of the Constitution is called "Family", and its articles guarantee the most basic legal concepts about the family, the rights, freedoms and duties of parents and children in the family, and the protection of the family by the state. Article 63 of this law:

"The family is the main link of the society and has the right to be under the protection of the society and the state.

"Marriage is based on the voluntary consent of the parties and equal rights." - is indicated.

Of course, family issues are among the most urgent problems. From this we can see that the family is protected and guaranteed by the state and society. But now let's turn our attention away from this topic and focus on marriage and its structure, sanctity of marriage, its place and importance in human life.

Marriage is a union formed on the basis of mutual consent of representatives of two sexes. Of course, the consent of both parties is assumed when concluding a marriage. No one can force anyone to get married. If forced marriage and similar situations occur, this will be the basis for taking responsibility before the law. As the great French philosopher N. Chamfor said: "As smoke emerges from a flame, so does marriage blend into love." Based on the opinions of this scientist, mutual love between the two parties is of great importance in the formation of marriage.

Article 13 of the Family Code of the Republic of Uzbekistan:

"Marriage is optional. In order to enter into marriage, the future couple must have the ability to freely express their consent. Forced marriage is prohibited." is defined as It is clear from this that it is strictly forbidden to force a person into marriage if he does not want it. According to the relevant articles of the Family Code of the Republic of Uzbekistan, marriage is concluded voluntarily upon reaching marriageable age. Even if the marriage is not officially formalized, heavy fines are imposed for violation of the marriage age requirement according to the following article of the Code of Administrative Responsibility. Article 47-3 of the Code of Administrative Responsibility:

"Actually entering into marital relations with a person who has not reached the age of marriage, - shall result in a fine of five to ten times the base calculation amount.

Giving away or marrying a person who has not reached marriageable age by parents or their substitutes, - will result in a fine of seven to fifteen times the base calculation amount.

Carrying out a religious ceremony to conclude a marriage with a person who has not reached the age of marriage, - causes a fine in the amount of ten to twenty times of the base calculation amount"

We can say that for the family to be strong and healthy, the age of the parties to the marriage is very important. Because this is the most important pre-marriage factor. According to the legislation, the age of marriage is set at eighteen for men and women. If there are valid reasons, in special cases, such as pregnancy, child birth, and a minor is declared legally competent, at the request of those who wish to enter into marriage, the mayor of the relevant district, city may reduce the marriage age to a maximum of one. can be reduced per year.

Nowadays, the most urgent topic in our society is problems such as family breakdown, divorce, and marriage breakdown. The origin of family disputes and the occurrence of rulings as a result of it attract the attention of the general public, and necessary measures are being implemented in order to find a solution to the problem and prevent it. At the same time, the origin of family conflicts and the breakdown of marriage are problems such as the incompatibility of the spouse's character, childlessness, the inability to manage the family budget wisely, jealousy and distrust, the interference of the elders in the family, parents and relatives in the marital relationship. causing conflicts in family relations.

The issue of family strength and family-marriage relations has been the most urgent issue in all times. At this point, let's look at the words of Shaykh Muhammad Sadiq Muhammad Yusuf in his book "Happy Family":

"It is known that the family is the starting cell of every society. If the family is strong, peaceful, honest and pure, the society will be peaceful, strong and prosperous. On the contrary, if there is disorganization and destruction in families, if there is no difference between honest and profane, that society will be destroyed, peace will be lost, and in the end it will go into a deep decline. Yes, of course, the development of the state and society depends on the strength and well-being of the family. If relationships in the family are focused on mutual respect, human dignity, support for dreams, support for each other, understanding, dealing with reason, that is, every issue should be resolved not by war, but by reason. if we solve it, there would be less chaos, war and conflicts in families.

"The greatest happiness, I will never tire of returning it a thousand times, may our family rest in peace!" A family is a small homeland, if the family is peaceful, the homeland is peaceful. Let us all be blessed to see those happy days, the perfection of our country and our youth, as we intend to do now," said the head of our state, Shavkat Mirziyoyev, in his speech. The essence of comprehensive social reforms implemented in our country consists of protecting the interests of the family, strengthening it as an important social institution in society and a center for raising a mature generation, family education and systematic work in this regard.

There is a person who is born in a family and grows up. Families form society. When strong and happy families multiply, society develops. He strives to preserve the so-called holy fortress of the family. If the husband and wife, who make up the unity of the family, are spiritually rich and mature, they can foresee any harmful effects and protect their family. At the same time, they approach the upbringing of children based on these criteria.

In a survey conducted by scientists to study the educational role of the family, the first and main role in shaping the young generation is the family, the second is the school, the third is the peers, the fourth is the neighborhood, literature, art, cinema. and there is a television. The family is the first and main educator. In the family, the father is the superior, and the mother is the support. Since the family is considered a sacred and great blessing, many wise people consider the establishment of a family as important as the establishment of a country. The stability and happy life of the family is considered the face and reputation of this country. It is not for nothing that developed countries pay so much attention to the family in their countries and strive to raise its influence in various ways.

Even in today's rapidly changing era of globalization, the fact that Uzbekistan considers its perspective and future to be in the development and honoring of the family is also evident when the establishment of a modern, exemplary and prosperous family, while enriching the above traditional values, has become one of the priorities of the state policy.

Both in the main basis of the "New Uzbekistan" policy and in every speech of our president, great attention is paid to increasing and strengthening the well-being of families, which ensure the continuity of the nation and determine the development of society. Speaking about the family, President Shavkat Mirziyoyev said, "Our people should know. The family is sacred for us, if we don't save the family, we will lose our identity," they said, emphasizing the social importance of the family.

In conclusion, family is considered a sacred value for us. Fully realizing the rights and interests of every family in our country, creating decent living conditions for them, ensuring the balance of family relations, increasing family well-being, supporting the institution of the family in every way, and achieving consistent and stable development of our country remains our highest goal. . Every family should live a spiritually healthy, happy and peaceful life, children growing up in the family will grow up as perfect people and add strength to the strength of our country, since the family is the main link of society, its strength and well-being will serve the development of our country and society. It is the duty of each of us to our homeland and our people to contribute.
