Without a doubt, in these days, learning foreign languages is playing a crucial role for all people. Especially, youngsters are becoming keen on learning many languages day by day. For the reason that if many well salary-paid jobs require applicants to know a lot of languages apart from their native languages. In addition, currently most individuals go abroad in order to study, travel and live. For this reason, they desire to have a clue about many foreign languages. As a result, the article is all about the efficiency of learning foreign languages among people.

Today's era of globalization requires humanity to keep up with the times. Therefore, it is desirable for specialists of various fields to be able to communicate in several foreign languages in addition to having a perfect knowledge of their native language. Noting that the attention to learning foreign languages among young people in our country has risen to a high level, he noted that it is not for nothing that people say that "those who know a language - people know" in our country. He wished success to the work of the conference. American scientists conducted research and gave tasks to people who know several languages to understand words and observed their tomographs. The results showed that such people are better able to identify similar words compared to those who speak only one language. This ability helps to block out various distractions and focus on one task.

Nowadays, the need for other languages is as important to us as water and air, because there are large-scale exchanges with foreign countries, every young generation should know at least two languages, for example, in Uzbekistan, along with the Uzbek language, the Russian language is also a state language. is used as a language, because there are many Russian-speaking people here, if we take Switzerland as an example, this country has 4 national languages, and in this context, we have the concept of bilingualism and polylingualism, we know that bilingualism is the speakers of two languages, and polylinguism is the two and are speakers of more than one language, nowadays every young person is trying to get international language certificates, it is clear that all modern professions are inextricably linked with world languages, so I believe that the role of learning foreign languages in the life of young people I know it is incomparable.

Additionally, learning new language can help youths improve their cognitive abilities such as problem-solving and multitasking. Because while they are working on another language in order to make it perfect like their native language, they have a chance to think differently and see the world from different eyes. As a consequence, young people are able to think objectively and find solutions for problems in a proper way. In my perspective, the study of foreign languages teaches and encourages youngsters to respect the local people of other nationalities. Because by the time they learn another language, undoubtedly they come in deeply to another country's culture, traditions and people' behaviour as well. Therefore, it can be said that knowing foreign languages can help young individuals be polite towards other nations.

Some people consider learning foreign languages as open doors to the world. Because if people knows languages, which are international, they can visit everywhere they desire. For instance, nowadays english language is becoming popular and it is used every corner of the world. So, students who know english language can communicate with other people in english language even their native language isn't English.

In conclusion, it can be said that today, learning foreign languages, especially languages of developed countries, is very useful for young people and occupies a significant place in their lives and here it should be mentioned that young people should be involved in learning new languages and it will be very beneficial for their future.
